Depart from : Hue

Duration : 1 days 0 nights

Hue served as Vietnam's capital under the emperors of the Nguyen Dynasty from 1802 to 1945, and the city's regal past can still be seen inside the walls of the Citadel and the Imperial City. Both were heavily damaged during the Tet Offensive of 1968 when the Communists took the city from the South and held it for 3 weeks, but now thanks to UNESCO funding, much of the City is being faithfully restored to its former glory.

8h00 depart to see the Imperial Citadel- an impressive complex, first built in 17th century based on the ancient practice of geomancy.

You will also have time to visit the completely different Khai Dinh royal burial place, flanked with a grandiose dragon staircase leading to its European-like castle built in the 1930s. Khai Dinh was the father of Emperor Bao Dai, and his tomb was completed in 1931. During the early 60s, Hue was the site of violent Buddhist demonstrations against the repressive Diem regime.

After lunch take a boat ride on the Perfume River and visit some of the more interesting sites of Hue - Thien Mu pagoda and the Minh Mang tomb.

Inclusions : Private car/mini van, Boat in Huong River, Entrance fees, English/French speaking guide, Lunch

Exclusions : Drinks, Insurance, Personal expenses, Tip

Being a big fan of Les Miserables, maybe its a reference to one of the songs- Castle in the Cloud? iPad Magic Maybe people will pay more attention to their phone if they realize it's also their wallet. One good thing about it is. With find my iPhone, you can disable everything with one hit. And not have to cancel all your credit cards. I'm still curious to see how it knows that the owner is even swiping the phone. I mean any kid can grab his moms phone off the kitchen counter and run to the store with it.

The search for Maria grew to involve more than 1,000 law enforcement officers and numerous other community members, ultimately catching the eye of President Dwight D. Eisenhower and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who requested daily updates. Video Convertidor Mac "Things never went back to normal," Chapman said. "It was always a struggle. I didn't have a normal childhood after that." Christmas came and went, with a pogo stick wrapped as a gift for Maria remaining unopened, her brother remembered. Then in April 1958, two people foraging for mushrooms found her remains. iPad Convertidor Mac

Police suspected McCullough, who lived less than two blocks from the Ridulphs and who fit the description of the man said to have approached the girls, HD Video Convertidor Thomas said Friday. But McCullough seemed to have an alibi, claiming he took the train from Rockford to Chicago the day of the abduction. iPod Convertidor Mac His story fell apart last year after investigators reinterviewed a woman who dated him in 1957 and asked her to search through some personal items, the Seattle Times reported, citing court documents. She found an unused train ticket from Rockford to Chicago dated the day the girl went missing. "Once his alibi crumbled, we found about a dozen other facts that helped us build our case," Thomas said. The Times reported investigators also determined a collect phone call McCullough purportedly made to his then-girlfriend from Chicago actually came from his Sycamore home the day Maria vanished - and he gave a ride to a relative when he should have been on the train. iPhone Convertidor Mac
